TRÜBNER'S ORIENTAL SERIES.

"A knowledge of the commonplace, at least, of Oriental literature, philosophy, and religion is as necessary to the general reader of the present day as an acquaintance with the Latin and Greek classics was a generation or so ago. Immense strides have been made within the present century in these branches of learning; Sanskrit has been brought within the range of accurate philology, and its invaluable ancient literature thoroughly investigated; the language and sacred books of the Zoroastrians have been laid bare; Egyptian, Assyrian, and other records of the remote past have been deciphered, and a group of scholars speak of still more recondite Accadian and Hittite monuments; but the results of all the scholarship that has been devoted to these subjects have been almost inaccessible to the public because they were contained for the most part in learned or expensive works, or scattered throughout the numbers of scientific periodicals. Messrs. TRÜBNER & CO., in a spirit of enterprise which does them infinite credit, have determined to supply the constantly-increasing want, and to give in a popular, or, at least, a comprehensive form, all this mass of knowledge to the world."—Times.

THE FOLLOWING WORKS HAVE ALREADY APPEARED:—

the
SAYS ON THE SACRED LANGUAGE, WRITINGS, AND RELIGION OF THE PARSIS.

By MARTIN HAUG, PH.D.,

of the Universities of Tübingen, Göttingen, and Bonn; Superintendent of Sanskrit Studies, and Professor of Sanskrit in the Poona College.

EDITED AND ENLARGED BY DR. E. W. WEST.

A) which is added a Biographical Memoir of the late Dr. HAUG by Prof. E. P. EVANS.

story of the Researches into the Sacred Writings and Religion of the Parsis, from the Earliest Times down to the Present.

languages of the Parsi Scriptures.

Zend-Avesta, or the Scripture of the Parsis.

Zoroastrian Religion, as to its Origin and Development.

on the Sacred Language, Writings, and Religion of the Parsis, by the
"The Haug, edited by Dr. E. W. West. The author intended, on his return literature to expand the materials contained in this work into a comprehensive access to the Zoroastrian religion, but the design was frustrated by his untimely decease, who have, however, in a concise and readable form, a history of the researches circled writings and religion of the Parsis from the earliest times down to the present. It is a dissertation on the languages of the Parsi Scriptures, a translation of the Zend-Avesta, or the Scripture of the Parsis, and a dissertation on the Zoroastrian Religion, with especial reference to its origin and development."—Times.

TEXTS FROM THE BUDDHIST CANON COMMONLY KNOWN AS "DHAMMAPĀDA."

*With Accompanying Narratives.*Translated from the Chinese by S. BEAL, B.A., Professor of Chinese, University College, London.

The Dhammapada, as hitherto known by the Pali Text Edition, as edited by Fausbøll, by Max Müller's English, and Albrecht Weber's German translations, consists only of twenty-six chapters or sections, whilst the Chinese version, or rather recension, as now translated by Mr. Beal, consists of thirty-nine sections. The students of Pali who possess Fausbøll's text, or either of the above-named translations, will therefore need want Mr. Beal's English rendering of the Chinese version; the thirteen above-named additional sections not being accessible to them in any other form; for, even if they understand Chinese, the Chinese original would be unobtainable by them.

"Mr. Beal's rendering of the Chinese translation is a most valuable aid to the critical study of the work. It contains authentic texts gathered from ancient canonical books, and generally connected with some incident in the history of Buddha. Their great interest, however, consists in the light which they throw upon everyday life in India at the remote period at which they were written, and upon the method of teaching adopted by the founder of the religion. The method employed was principally payable, and the simplicity of the tales and the excellence of the morals inculcated, as well as the strange hold which they have retained upon the minds of millions of people, make them a very remarkable study."—Times.

"Mr. Beal, by making it accessible in an English dress, has added to the great services he has already rendered to the comparative study of religious history."—Academy.

"Valuable as exhibiting the doctrine of the Buddhists in its purest, least adulterated form, it brings the modern reader face to face with that simple creed and rule of conduct which won its way over the minds of myriads, and which is now nominally professed by 145 millions, who have overlaid its austere simplicity with innumerable ceremonies, forgotten its maxims, perverted its teaching, and so inverted its leading principle that a religion whose founder denied a God, now worships that founder as a god himself."—Scotsman.

Third Edition, post 8vo, cloth, pp. xxiv.—360, price 10s. 6d.

THE HISTORY OF INDIAN LITERATURE.

By ALBRECHT WEBER.

Translated from the Second German Edition by JOHN MANN, M.A.
THEODOR ZACHARIAE, Ph.D., with the sanction of the Author.

Dr. BUHLER, Inspector of Schools in India, writes:—"When I was Professor of Oriental Languages in Elphinstone College, I frequently want of such a work to which I could refer the students."

Professor COWELL, of Cambridge, writes:—"It will be especially to the students in our Indian colleges and universities. I used to use such a book when I was teaching in Calcutta. Hindu students are interested in the history of Sanskrit literature, and this volume will meet with all they want on the subject."

Professor WHITNEY, Yale College, Newhaven, Conn., U.S.A. writes:—"I was one of the class to whom the work was originally given in the form of academic lectures. At their first appearance they were by far the most learned and able treatment of their subject; and with their recent publication they still maintain decidedly the same rank."

"Is perhaps the most comprehensive and lucid survey of Sanskrit literature extant. The essays contained in the volume were originally delivered as lectures, and at the time of their first publication were acknowledged to be the most important and able treatment of the subject. They have now been brought up to date by the addition of their most important results of recent research."—Times.

A SKETCH OF THE MODERN LANGUAGES OF THE EAST INDIES.

By ROBERT N. CUST.

The Author has attempted to fill up a vacuum, the inconvenience of which pressed itself on his notice. Much had been written about the languages of the East Indies, but the extent of our present knowledge had not even been brought to a focus. It occurred to him that it might be of use to others to publish in an arranged form the notes which he had collected for his own edification.

"Supplies a deficiency which has long been felt."—Times.

"The book before us is then a valuable contribution to philological science. It passes under review a vast number of languages, and it gives, or professes to give, in every case the sum and substance of the opinions and judgments of the best-informed writers."—Saturday Review.

Second Corrected Edition, post 8vo, pp. xii.—116, cloth, price 5s.

THE BIRTH OF THE WAR-GOD.

A Poem. By KALIDASA.

Translated from the Sanskrit into English Verse by RALPH T. H. GRIFFITH, M.A.

"A very spirited rendering of the Kumārāsambhava, which was first published twenty-six years ago, and which we are glad to see made once more accessible."—Times.

"Mr. Griffith's very spirited rendering is well known to most who are at all interested in Indian literature, or enjoy the tenderness of feeling and rich creative imagination of its author."—Indian Antiquary.

"We are very glad to welcome a second edition of Professor Griffith's admirable translation. Few translations deserve a second edition better."—Athenæum.

Post 8vo, pp. 432, cloth, price 16s.

A CLASSICAL DICTIONARY OF HINDU MYTHOLOGY AND RELIGION, GEOGRAPHY, HISTORY, AND LITERATURE.

By JOHN DOWSON, M.R.A.S.,
Late Professor of Hindustani, Staff College.

"This not only forms an indispensable book of reference to students of Indian literature, but is also of great general interest, as it gives in a concise and easily accessible form all that need be known about the personages of Hindu mythology whose names are so familiar, but of whom so little is known outside the limited circle of savants."—Times.

"It is no slight gain when such subjects are treated fairly and fully in a moderate space; and we need only add that the few wants which we may hope to see supplied in new editions detract but little from the general excellence of Mr. Dowson's work."—Saturday Review.

Post 8vo, with View of Mecca, pp. cxii.—172, cloth, price 9s.

SELECTIONS FROM THE KORAN.

By EDWARD WILLIAM LANE,

Translator of "The Thousand and One Nights;" &c., &c.

A New Edition, Revised and Enlarged, with an Introduction by STANLEY LANE POOLE.

"... Has been long esteemed in this country as the compilation of one of the greatest Arabic scholars of the time, the late Mr. Lane, the well-known translator of the 'Arabian Nights.' ... The present editor has enhanced the value of his relative's work by divesting the text of a great deal of extraneous matter introduced by way of comment, and prefixing an introduction."—Times.

"Mr. Poole is both a generous and a learned biographer. ... Mr. Poole tells us the facts ... so far as it is possible for industry and criticism to ascertain them, and for literary skill to present them in a condensed and readable form."—Englishman, Calcutta.

Post 8vo, pp. vi.—368, cloth, price 14s.

MODERN INDIA AND THE INDIANS,

BEING A SERIES OF IMPRESSIONS, NOTES, AND ESSAYS.

By MONIER WILLIAMS, D.C.L.,

Hon. LL.D. of the University of Calcutta, Hon. Member of the Bombay Asiatic Society, Boden Professor of Sanskrit in the University of Oxford.

Fifth Edition, revised and augmented by considerable Additions, with Illustrations and a Map.

"In this volume we have the thoughtful impressions of a thoughtful man on some of the most important questions connected with our Indian Empire. ... An enlightened observant man, travelling among an enlightened observant people, Professor Monier Williams has brought before the public in a pleasant form more of the manners and customs of the Queen's Indian subjects than we ever remember to have seen in any one work. He not only deserves the thanks of every Englishman for this able contribution to the study of Modern India—a subject with which we should be specially familiar—but he deserves the thanks of every Indian, Parsee or Hindu, Buddhist and Moslem, for his clear exposition of their manners, their creeds, and their necessities."—Times.

Post 8vo, pp. xlv.—376, cloth, price 14s.

With an Introduction, many Prose Versions, and Parallel Passages from Classical Authors.

By J. MUIR, C.I.E., D.C.L., LL.D., Ph.D.

"... An agreeable introduction to Hindu poetry."—Times.

"... A volume which may be taken as a fair illustration alike of the religious and moral sentiments and of the legendary lore of the best Sanskrit writers."—Edinburgh Daily Review.

Second Edition, post 8vo, pp. xxvi.—244, cloth, price 10s. 6d.

THE GULISTAN;

OR, ROSE GARDEN OF SHEKH MUSHLIU'D-DIN SADI OF SHIRAZ.

Preface, and a Life of the Author, from the Atish Kadah,

By EDWARD B. EASTWICK, C.B., M.A., F.R.S., M.R.A.S.

"It is a very fair rendering of the original."—Times.

"The new edition has long been desired, and will be welcomed by all who take any interest in Oriental poetry. The Gulistan is a typical Persian verse-book of the highest order. Mr. Eastwick's rhymed translation ... has long established itself in a secure position as the best version of Sadi's finest work."—Academy.

"It is both faithfully and gracefully executed."—Tablet.

In Two Volumes, post 8vo, pp. viii.—408 and viii.—348, cloth, price 28s.

CHINESE BUDDHISM.

A VOLUME OF SKETCHES, HISTORICAL AND CRITICAL.

By J. EDKINS, D.D.

Author of "China's Place in Philology," "Religion in China," &c., &c.

"It contains a vast deal of important information on the subject, such as is only to be gained by long-continued study on the spot."—Athenæum.

"Upon the whole, we know of no work comparable to it for the extent of its original research, and the simplicity with which this complicated system of philosophy, religion, literature, and ritual is set forth."—British Quarterly Review.

"The whole volume is replete with learning. . . . It deserves most careful study from all interested in the history of the religions of the world, and expressly of those who are concerned in the propagation of Christianity. Dr. Edkins notices in terms of just condemnation the exaggerated praise bestowed upon Buddhism by recent English writers."—Record.

LINGUISTIC AND ORIENTAL ESSAYS.

WRITTEN FROM THE YEAR 1846 TO 1890.

By ROBERT NEEDHAM CUST,

Late Member of Her Majesty's Indian Civil Service; Hon. Secretary to the Royal Asiatic Society; and Author of "The Modern Languages of the East Indies."

"We know none who has described Indian life, especially the life of the natives, with so much learning, sympathy, and literary talent."—Academy.

"They seem to us to be full of suggestive and original remarks."—St. James's Gazette.

"His book contains a vast amount of information. The result of thirty-five years of inquiry, reflection, and speculation, and that on subjects as full of fascination as of food for thought."—Tablet.

"Exhibit such a thorough acquaintance with the history and antiquities of India as to entitle him to speak as one having authority."—Edinburgh Daily Review.

"The author speaks with the authority of personal experience. . . . It is this constant association with the country and the people which gives such a vividness to many of the pages."—Athenæum.

Post 8vo, pp. xii.—228, cloth, price 7s. 6d.

THE CLASSICAL POETRY OF THE JAPANESE.

By BASIL HALL CHAMBERLAIN,

Author of "Yeigo Heikaku Shirai."

"A very curious volume. The author has manifestly devoted much labour to the task of studying the poetical literature of the Japanese, and rendering characteristic specimens into English verse."—Daily News.

"Mr. Chamberlain's volume is, so far as we are aware, the first attempt which has been made to interpret the literature of the Japanese to the Western world. It is to the classical poetry of Old Japan that we must turn for indigenous Japanese thought, and in the volume before us we have a selection from that poetry rendered into graceful English verse."—Tablet.

"It is undoubtedly one of the best translations of lyric literature which has appeared during the close of the last year."—Celestial Empire.

"Mr. Chamberlain set himself a difficult task when he undertook to reproduce Japanese poetry in an English form. But he has evidently laboured con amore, and his efforts are successful to a degree."—London and China Express.

Post 8vo, pp. civ.—348, cloth, price 18s.

BUDDHIST BIRTH STORIES; or, Jataka Tales.

The Oldest Collection of Folk-lore Extant:

BEING THE JATAKATTHAVANNANA,

For the first time Edited in the original Pāli.

By V. FAUSBOLL;

And Translated by T. W. RHYS DAVIDS.

Translation. Volume I.

"These are tales supposed to have been told by the Buddha of what he had seen and heard in his previous births. They are probably the nearest representatives of the original Aryan stories from which sprang the folk-lore of Europe as well as India. The introduction contains a most interesting disquisition on the migrations of these fables, tracing their reappearance in the various groups of folk-lore legends. Among other old friends, we meet with a version of the Judgment of Solomon."—Times.

"It is now some years since Mr. Rhys Davids asserted his right to be heard on this subject by his able article on Buddhism in the new edition of the 'Encyclopædia Britannica.'—Leeds Mercury.

"All who are interested in Buddhist literature ought to feel deeply indebted to Mr. Rhys Davids. His well-established reputation as a Pāli scholar is a sufficient guarantee for the fidelity of his version, and the style of his translations is deserving of high praise."—Academy.

"No more competent expositor of Buddhism could be found than Mr. Rhys Davids. In the Jataka book we have, then, a priceless record of the earliest imaginative literature of our race; and . . . it presents to us a nearly complete picture of the social life and customs and popular beliefs of the common people of Aryan tribes, closely related to ourselves, just as they were passing through the first stages of civilisation."—St. James's Gazette.

Post 8vo, pp. xxviii.—362, cloth, price 14s.

A TALMUDIC MISCELLANY;

OR, A THOUSAND AND ONE EXTRACTS FROM THE TALMUD,
THE MIDRASHIM, AND THE KABBALAH.

Compiled and Translated by PAUL ISAAC HERSHON,

Author of "Genesis According to the Talmud," &c.

With Notes and Copious Indexes.

"To obtain in so concise and handy a form as this volume a general idea of the Talmud is a boon to Christians at least."—Times.

"Its peculiar and popular character will make it attractive to general readers. Mr. Hershon is a very competent scholar. . . . Contains samples of the good, bad, and indifferent, and especially extracts that throw light upon the Scriptures."—British Quarterly Review.

"Will convey to English readers a more complete and truthful notion of the Talmud than any other work that has yet appeared."—Daily News.

"Without overlooking in the slightest the several attractions of the previous volumes of the 'Oriental Series,' we have no hesitation in saying that this surpasses them all in interest."—Edinburgh Daily Review.

"Mr. Hershon has . . . thus given English readers what is, we believe, a fair set of specimens which they can test for themselves."—The Record.

"This book is by far the best fitted in the present state of knowledge to enable the general reader to gain a fair and unbiassed conception of the multifarious contents of the wonderful miscellany which can only be truly understood—so Jewish pride asserts—by the life-long devotion of scholars of the Chosen People."—Inquirer.

"The value and importance of this volume consist in the fact that scarcely a single extract is given in its pages but throws some light, direct or refracted, upon those Scriptures which are the common heritage of Jew and Christian alike."—John Bull.

"It is a capital specimen of Hebrew scholarship; a monument of learned, loving, light-giving labour."—Jewish Herald.

Post 8vo, pp. xii.—164, cloth, price 10s. 6d.

THE HISTORY OF ESARHADDON (Son of Sennacherib), KING OF ASSYRIA, B.C. 681-668.

Translated from the Cuneiform Inscriptions upon Cylinders and Tablets in the British Museum Collection; together with a Grammatical Analysis of each Word, Explanations of the Ideographs by Extracts from the Bi-Lingual Syllabaries, and List of Eponyms, &c.

By ERNEST A. BUDGE, B.A., M.R.A.S.,
Assyrian Exhibitioner, Christ's College, Cambridge.

"Students of scriptural archaeology will also appreciate the 'History of Esarhaddon.'"—Times.

"There is much to attract the scholar in this volume. It does not pretend to popularise studies which are yet in their infancy. Its primary object is to translate, but it does not assume to be more than tentative, and it offers both to the professed Assyriologist and to the ordinary non-Assyriological Semitic scholar the means of controlling its results."—Academy.

"Mr. Budge's book is, of course, mainly addressed to Assyrian scholars and students. They are not, it is to be feared, a very numerous class. But the more thanks are due to him on that account for the way in which he has acquitted himself in his laborious task."—Tablet.

Post 8vo, pp. 448, cloth, price 21s.

THE MESNEVI

(Usually known as THE MESNEVIYI SHERIF, or HOLY MESNEVI)

Translated, and the Poetry Versified, in English,

By JAMES W. REDHOUSE, M.R.A.S., &c.

A complete treasury of occult Oriental lore."—Saturday Review.

This book will be a very valuable help to the reader ignorant of Persia, who is desirous of obtaining an insight into a very important department of the literature extant in that language."—Tablet.

Third Edition. Post 8vo, pp. x.—130, cloth, price 6s.

A MANUAL OF HINDU PANTHEISM. VEDĀNTASĀRA.

Translated, with copious Annotations,

By MAJOR G. A. JACOB,

Bombay Staff Corps; Inspector of Army Schools.

The design of this little work is to provide for missionaries, and for others who, like them, have little leisure for original research, an accurate summary of the doctrines of the Vedānta.

"The modest title of Major Jacob's work conveys but an inadequate idea of the vast amount of research embodied in his notes to the text of the Vedāntasāra. So copious, indeed, are these, and so much collateral matter do they bring to bear on the subject, that the diligent student will rise from their perusal with a fairly adequate view of Hindū philosophy generally. His work . . . is one of the best of its kind that we have seen."—Calcutta Review.

Post 8vo, pp. xvi.—280, cloth, price 6s.

EASTERN PROVERBS AND EMBLEMS

ILLUSTRATING OLD TRUTHS.

By REV. J. LONG,

Member of the Bengal Asiatic Society, F.R.G.S.

"We regard the book as valuable, and wish for it a wide circulation and attentive reading."—Reverent.

"Altogether, it is quite a feast of good things."—Globe.

"It is full of interesting matter."—Antiquary.

Sixth Edition. Post 8vo, pp. viii.—270, cloth, price 6s.

INDIAN POETRY;

Containing a New Edition of the "Indian Song of Songs," from the Sanscrit of the "Gita Govinda" of Jayadeva; Two Books from "The Iliad of India" (Mahabharata), "Proverbial Wisdom" from the Shlokas of the Hitopadesa, and other Oriental Poems.

By EDWIN ARNOLD, C.S.I., Author of "The Light of Asia."

"In this new volume of Messrs. Trübner's Oriental Series, Mr. Edwin Arnold does good service by illustrating, through the medium of his musical English melodies, the power of Indian poetry to stir European emotions. The 'Indian Song of Songs' is not unknown to scholars. Mr. Arnold will have introduced it among popular English poems. Nothing could be more graceful and delicate than the shades by which Krishna is portrayed in the gradual process of being weaned by the love of

'Beautiful Radha, jasmine-bosomed Radha,' from the allurements of the forest nymphs, in whom the five senses are typified."—Times.

"No other English poet has ever thrown his genius and his art so thoroughly into the work of translating Eastern ideas as Mr. Arnold has done in his splendid paraphrases of language contained in these mighty epics."—Daily Telegraph.

"The poem abounds with imagery of Eastern luxuriance and sensuousness; the air seems laden with the spicy odours of the tropics, and the verse has a richness and a melody sufficient to captivate the senses of the dullest."—Standard.

"The translator, while producing a very enjoyable poem, has adhered with tolerable fidelity to the original text."—Overland Mail.

"We certainly wish Mr. Arnold success in his attempt 'to popularise Indian classics,' that being, as his preface tells us, the goal towards which he bends his efforts."—Allen's Indian Mail.

Post 8vo, pp. xvi.—296, cloth, price 10s. 6d.

THE MIND OF MENCIUS;

OR, POLITICAL ECONOMY FOUNDED UPON MORAL PHILOSOPHY.

A SYSTEMATIC DIGEST OF THE DOCTRINES OF THE CHINESE PHILOSOPHER
MENCIUS.

Translated from the Original Text and Classified, with Comments and Explanations,

By the REV. ERNST FABER, Rheinisch Mission Society.

Translated from the German, with Additional Notes,

By the REV. A. B. HUTCHINSON, C.M.S., Church Mission, Hong Kong.

"Mr. Faber is already well known in the field of Chinese studies by his digest of the doctrines of Confucius. The value of this work will be perceived when it is remembered that at no time since relations commenced between China and the West has the former been so powerful—we had almost said aggressive—as now. For those who will give it careful study, Mr. Faber's work is one of the most valuable of the excellent series to which it belongs."—Nature.

Post 8vo, pp. 336, cloth, price 16s.

THE RELIGIONS OF INDIA.

By A. BARTH.

Third Edition

Translated from the French with the authority and assistance of the Author.

The author has, at the request of the publishers, considerably enlarged the work for the translator, and has added the literature of the subject to date; the translation may, therefore, be looked upon as an equivalent of a new and improved edition of the original.

"Is not only a valuable manual of the religions of India, which marks a distinct step in the treatment of the subject, but also a useful work of reference."—Academy.

"This volume is a reproduction, with corrections and additions, of an article contributed by the learned author two years ago to the 'Encyclopédie des Sciences Religieuses.' It attracted much notice when it first appeared, and is generally admitted to present the best summary extant of the vast subject with which it deals."—Tablet.

"This is not only on the whole the best but the only manual of the religions of India, apart from Buddhism, which we have in English. The present work . . . shows not only great knowledge of the facts and power of clear exposition, but also great insight into the inner history and the deeper meaning of the great religion, for it is in reality only one, which it proposes to describe."—Modern Review.

"The merit of the work has been emphatically recognised by the most authoritative Orientalists, both in this country and on the continent of Europe. But probably there are few Indianists (if we may use the word) who would not derive a good deal of information from it, and especially from the extensive bibliography provided in the notes."—Dublin Review.

"Such a sketch M. Barth has drawn with a master-hand."—Critic (New York).

Post 8vo, pp. viii.—152, cloth, price 6s.

HINDU PHILOSOPHY.

THE SĀṆKHYA KĀRIKA OF IS'WARA KRISHNA.

An Exposition of the System of Kapila, with an Appendix on the Nyāya and Vaiśeṣika Systems.

By JOHN DAVIES, M.A. (Cantab.), M.R.A.S.

The system of Kapila contains nearly all that India has produced in the department of pure philosophy.

"The non-Orientalist . . . finds in Mr. Davies a patient and learned guide who leads him into the intricacies of the philosophy of India, and supplies him with a clue, that he may not be lost in them. In the preface he states that the system of Kapila is the 'earliest attempt on record to give an answer, from reason alone, to the mysterious questions which arise in every thoughtful mind about the origin of the world, the nature and relations of man and his future destiny,' and in his learned and able notes he exhibits 'the connection of the Sāṅkhya system with the philosophy of Spinoza,' and 'the connection of the system of Kapila with that of Schopenhauer and von Hartmann.'"—Foreign Church Chronicle.

"Mr. Davies's volume on Hindu Philosophy is an undoubted gain to all students of the development of thought. The system of Kapila, which is here given in a translation from the Sāṅkhya Kārika, is the only contribution of India to pure philosophy.

. . . Presents many points of deep interest to the student of comparative philosophy, and without Mr. Davies's lucid interpretation it would be difficult to appreciate these points in any adequate manner."—Saturday Review.

"We welcome Mr. Davies's book as a valuable addition to our philosophical library."—Notes and Queries.

Custodian of the Grey Collection, Cape Town ; Corresponding Member of the Geogr. Society, Dresden ; Corresponding Member of the Anthropological Society, Vienna, &c., &c.

"The first instalment of Dr. Hahn's labours will be of interest, not at the Cape only, but in every University of Europe. It is, in fact, a most valuable contribution to the comparative study of religion and mythology. Accounts of their religion and mythology were scattered about in various books; these have been carefully collected by Dr. Hahn and printed in his second chapter, enriched and improved by what he has been able to collect himself."—Prof. Max Müller in the Nineteenth Century.

THE QUATRAINS OF OMAR KHAYYAM.

The Persian Text, with an English Verse Translation.

By E. H. WHINFIELD, late of the Bengal Civil Service.

"Mr. Whinfield has executed a difficult task with considerable success, and his version contains much that will be new to those who only know Mr. Fitzgerald's delightful selection."—Academy.

"The most prominent features in the Quatrains are their profound agnosticism, combined with a fatalism based more on philosophic than religious grounds, their Epicureanism and the spirit of universal tolerance and charity which animates them."—Calcutta Review.

A COMPARATIVE HISTORY OF THE EGYPTIAN AND MESOPOTAMIAN RELIGIONS.

By DR. C. P. TIELE.

VOL. I.—HISTORY OF THE EGYPTIAN RELIGION.

Translated from the Dutch with the Assistance of the Author.

By JAMES BALLINGAL.

"It places in the hands of the English readers a history of Egyptian Religion which is very complete, which is based on the best materials, and which has been illustrated by the latest results of research. In this volume there is a great deal of information, as well as independent investigation, for the trustworthiness of which Dr. Tiele's name is in itself a guarantee; and the description of the successive religions under the Old Kingdom, the Middle Kingdom, and the New Kingdom, is given in a manner which is scholarly and minute."—Scotlanian.

By SAMUEL BEAL, B.A.,

(Trin. Coll., Camb.); R.N. (Retired Chaplain and N.I.); Professor of Chinese, University College, London; Rector of Wark, Northumberland, &c.

An eminent Indian authority writes respecting this work:—"Nothing more can be done in elucidating the History of India until Mr. Beal's translation of the 'Si-yu-ki' appears."

"It is a strange freak of historical preservation that the best account of the condition of India at that ancient period has come down to us in the books of travel written by the Chinese pilgrims, of whom Hwen Tsiang is the best known."—Times.

YUSUF AND ZULAIKHA.

A POEM BY JAMI.

Translated from the Persian into English Verse.

By RALPH T. H. GRIFFITH.

"Mr. Griffith, who has done already good service as translator into verse from the Sanskrit, has done further good work in this translation from the Persian, and he has evidently shown not a little skill in his rendering the quaint and very oriental style of his author into our more prosaic, less figurative, language. . . . The work, besides its intrinsic merits, is of importance as being one of the most popular and famous poems of Persia, and that which is read in all the independent native schools of India where Persian is taught."—Scotsman.

LINGUISTIC ESSAYS.

By CARL ABEL.

"An entirely novel method of dealing with philosophical questions and impart a real human interest to the otherwise dry technicalities of the science."—Standard.

THE SARVA-DARSANA-SAMGRAHA ;

OR, REVIEW OF THE DIFFERENT SYSTEMS OF HINDU PHILOSOPHY.

By MADHAVA ACHARYA.

Translated by E. B. COWELL, M.A., Professor of Sanskrit in the University of Cambridge, and A. E. GOUGH, M.A., Professor of Philosophy in the Presidency College, Calcutta.

This work is an interesting specimen of Hindu critical ability. The author successively passes in review the sixteen philosophical systems current in the fourteenth century in the South of India; and he gives what appears to him to be their most important tenets.

"The translation is trustworthy throughout. A protracted sojourn in India, where there is a living tradition, has familiarised the translators with Indian thought."—Athenæum.

TIBETAN TALES DERIVED FROM INDIAN SOURCES.

By F. ANTON VON SCHIEFNER.

Done into English from the German, with an Introduction,

By W. R. S. RALSTON, M.A.

"Mr. Ralston, whose name is so familiar to all lovers of Russian folk-lore, has supplied some interesting Western analogies and parallels, drawn, for the most part, from Slavonic sources, to the Eastern folk-tales, culled from the Kahgyur, one of the divisions of the Tibetan sacred books."—Academy.

"The translation . . . could scarcely have fallen into better hands. An Introduction . . . gives the leading facts in the lives of those scholars who have given their attention to gaining a knowledge of the Tibetan literature and language."—Calcutta Review.

"Ought to interest all who care for the East, for amusing stories, or for comparative folk-lore."—Pall Mall Gazette.

UDĀNAVARGA.

A COLLECTION OF VERSES FROM THE BUDDHIST CANON.

Compiled by DHARMATRĀTA.

BEING THE NORTHERN BUDDHIST VERSION OF DHAMMAPADA.

Translated from the Tibetan of Bkah-hgyur, with Notes, and Extracts from the Commentary of Pradjuavarman,

By W. WOODVILLE ROCKHILL.

"Mr. Rockhill's present work is the first from which assistance will be gained for a more accurate understanding of the Pali text; it is, in fact, as yet the only term of comparison available to us. The 'Udanavarga,' the Thibetan version, was originally discovered by the late M. Schiefner, who published the Tibetan text, and had intended adding a translation, an intention frustrated by his death, but which has been carried out by Mr. Rockhill. . . . Mr. Rockhill may be congratulated for having well accomplished a difficult task."—Saturday Review.

OUTLINES OF THE HISTORY OF RELIGION TO THE SPREAD OF THE UNIVERSAL RELIGIONS.

By C. P. TIELE,

Doctor of Theology, Professor of the History of Religions in the University of Leyden.

Translated from the Dutch by J. ESTLIN CARPENTER, M.A.

"Few books of its size contain the result of so much wide thinking, able and laborious study, or enable the reader to gain a better bird's-eye view of the latest results of investigations into the religious history of nations. As Professor Tiele modestly says, 'In this little book are outlines—pencil sketches, I might say—nothing more. But there are some men whose sketches from a thumb-nail are of far more worth than an enormous canvas covered with the crude painting of others, and it is easy to see that these pages, full of information, these sentences, cut and perhaps also dry, short and clear, condense the fruits of long and thorough research.'"—Scotsman.

Post 8vo, pp. xii.—312, with Maps and Plan, cloth, price 14s.

A HISTORY OF BURMA.

By LIEUT.-GEN. SIR ARTHUR P. PHAYRE, G.C.M.G., K.C.S.I., and C.B., Membre Correspondant de la Société Académique Indo-Chinoise de France.

"Sir Arthur Phayre's contribution to Trübner's Oriental Series supplies a recognised want, and its appearance has been looked forward to for many years. . . . General Phayre deserves great credit for the patience and industry which has resulted in this History of Burma."—Saturday Review.

Revised Edition. Post 8vo, pp. 276, cloth, price 7s. 6d.

RELIGION IN CHINA.

By JOSEPH EDKINS, D.D., PEKING.

Containing a Brief Account of the Three Religions of the Chinese, with Observations on the Prospects of Christian Conversion amongst that People.

"Dr. Edkins has been most careful in noting the varied and often complex phases of opinion, so as to give an account of considerable value of the subject."—Scotsman.

"As a missionary, it has been part of Dr. Edkins' duty to study the existing religions in China, and his long residence in the country has enabled him to acquire an intimate knowledge of them as they at present exist."—Saturday Review.

"Dr. Edkins' valuable work, of which this is a second and revised edition, has, from the time that it was published, been the standard authority upon the subject of which it treats."—Nonconformist.

"Dr. Edkins . . . may now be fairly regarded as among the first authorities on Chinese religion and language."—British Quarterly Review.

Post 8vo, pp. x.—274, cloth, price 9s.

THE LIFE OF THE BUDDHA AND THE EARLY HISTORY OF HIS ORDER.

Derived from Tibetan Works in the Bkah-hgyur and Bstan-hgyur.

Followed by notices on the Early History of Tibet and Khoten.

Translated by W. W. ROCKHILL, Second Secretary U.S. Legation in China.

"The volume bears testimony to the diligence and fulness with which the author has consulted and tested the ancient documents bearing upon his remarkable subject."—Times.

"Will be appreciated by those who devote themselves to those Buddhist studies which have of late years taken in these Western regions so remarkable a development. Its matter possesses a special interest as being derived from ancient Tibetan works, some portions of which, here analysed and translated, have not yet attracted the attention of scholars. The volume is rich in ancient stories bearing upon the world's renovation and the origin of castes, as recorded in these venerable authorities."—Daily News.

Third Edition. Post 8vo, pp. viii.—464, cloth, price 16s.

THE SANKHYA APHORISMS OF KAPILA,

With Illustrative Extracts from the Commentaries.

Translated by J. R. BALLANTYNE, LL.D., late Principal of the Benares College.

Edited by FITZEDWARD HALL.

The work displays a vast expenditure of labour and scholarship, for which students of Hindoo philosophy have every reason to be grateful to Dr. Hall and the publishers."—Calcutta Review.

Post 8vo, pp. xlviii.-398, cloth, price 12s.

THE ORDINANCES OF MANU.

Translated from the Sanskrit, with an Introduction.

By the late A. C. BURNELL, Ph.D., C.I.E.

Completed and Edited by E. W. HOPKINS, Ph.D.,
of Columbia College, N.Y.

"This work is full of interest; while for the student of sociology and the science of religion it is full of importance. It is a great boon to get so notable a work in so accessible a form, admirably edited, and competently translated."—Scotsman.

"Few men were more competent than Burnell to give us a really good translation of this well-known law book, first rendered into English by Sir William Jones. Burnell was not only an independent Sanskrit scholar, but an experienced lawyer, and he joined to these two important qualifications the rare faculty of being able to express his thoughts in clear and trenchant English. . . . We ought to feel very grateful to Dr. Hopkins for having given us all that could be published of the translation left by Burnell."—P. MAX MÜLLER in the Academy.

Post 8vo, pp. xii.-234, cloth, price 9s.

THE LIFE AND WORKS OF ALEXANDER CSOMA DE KOROS,

By THEODORE DUKA, M.D., F.R.C.S. (Eng.), Surgeon-Major
H.M.'s Bengal Medical Service, Retired, &c.

"Not too soon have Messrs. Trübner added to their valuable Oriental Series a history of the life and works of one of the most gifted and devoted of Oriental students, Alexander Csoma de Koros. It is forty-three years since his death, and though an account of his career was demanded soon after his decease, it has only now appeared in the important memoir of his compatriot, Dr. Duka."—Bookseller.

ANCIENT PROVERBS AND MAXIMS FROM BURMESE SOURCES;

OR, THE NITI LITERATURE OF BURMA.

By JAMES GRAY,

Author of "Elements of Pali Grammar," "Translation of the Dhammapada," &c.

The Sanscrit-Pāli word Niti is equivalent to "conduct" in its abstract, and "guide" in its concrete signification. As applied to books, it is a general term for a treatise which includes maxims, pithy sayings, and didactic stories, intended as a guide to such matters of every-day life as form the character of an individual and influence him in his relations to his fellow-men. Treatises of this kind have been popular in all ages, and have served as a most effective medium of instruction.

THE CODE OF MANU.

ORIGINAL SANSKRIT TEXT, WITH CRITICAL NOTES.

By J. JOLLY, Ph.D.,

Professor of Sanskrit in the University of Würzburg; late Tagore Professor of Law in the University of Calcutta.

The date assigned by Sir William Jones to this Code—the well-known Great Law Book of the Hindus—is 1250-500 B.C., although the rules and precepts contained in it had probably existed as tradition for countless ages before. There has been no reliable edition of the Text for Students for many years past, and it is believed, therefore, that Prof. Jolly's work will supply a want long felt.

A HISTORY OF CIVILISATION IN ANCIENT INDIA.

By ROMESH CHUNDER DUTT, C.I.E.

"Mr. Dutt has attempted to popularise learned researches, and has undertaken a patriotic work, and in many respects none could be better prepared for the task than he. . . . As far as possible he allows the original texts to speak for themselves; his book is thus filled with extracts selected and translated with care; and the extracts are connected together by analyses and résumés in which we always find what is necessary, and seldom what is superfluous. He has written with enthusiasm, in a language clear and correct, and without that needless display of erudition which tires more than it instructs. On the whole I know of no work which enables one better to enter into the spirit of ancient Indian thought, or which is more fascinating reading."—M. BARTH, in Revue Critique, Paris. (Translated.)

FROM

THE HON'BLE S. SUBRAMANIA AIYAR, B.L., C.I.E.,
Devan Bahadur.

DEAR SIR,

I have no doubt that your forthcoming collection of Tamil proverbs will prove highly useful and interesting. The collection of sayings in the West by the side of these proverbs would enable many people to see how much similarity in ideas exists between the East and the West.

As regards the translation into English the ideas underlying those proverbs have been well brought out. I wish every success to your laudable undertaking.

Yours sincerely,
(Signed) S. SUBRAMANIAM.

C. W. TAMOTHARAM PILLAY, Esq., B.A., B.L.

The edition of proverbs brought out by the Rev. Mr. Jensen is decidedly an improvement upon its predecessors. Its classification under appropriate heads gives it a superior aspect, facilitating one to lay his hand on what he wants which he cannot do in a collection simply alphabetically arranged, the advantage of which is also combined in the edition by the index of the initial words.

Notwithstanding that there are slight errors of grammar and spelling, which a European compiler cannot but fall into, the book, I believe, will be of great use to both the Tamilians and foreigners.

PREFACE.

ABOUT twenty years ago, when I got Percival's collection of Tamil proverbs into my hands, I had only been a short time in India, and had as yet got no insight into Indian thought and literature. I had read only a couple of small Tamil story books, but when reading these I had already perceived that the Indians could hardly tell a story without introducing some proverbs into it. My attention was thus at an early period of my life in India drawn to proverbs, and I began to study Percival's collection. I got, however, very little out of my study, as Percival had only given a translation of the Tamil proverbs, and had given no hints as to their meaning. So in those days I got no insight whatever into the real household proverbs, but had almost to rest satisfied with the many aphorisms, or what we in Tamil call தீதொழி, of which we find large numbers in all our Tamil proverb collections. Yet, from what I had seen in the story books and in Percival's collection I had got an interest in these terse, blunt and poetic sayings; and year after year on getting deeper into the thought and life of India, and at the same time becoming acquainted with more and more of the proverbs, my interest in them steadily increased. And whenever I met with a new proverb either when talking with the people or reading Tamil books, I always looked for it in Percival's collection, and if he had not got it, I took a note of it; and at times I tried to have some of them explained by the common people.

While I was thus leisurely prosecuting the study of Tamil proverbs, the Rev. J. Lazarus, B.A., began to prepare a "Dictionary of Tamil Proverbs." I looked forward to the publication of this book with very great interest, but when it appeared, I was somewhat disappointed with it, partly because Mr. Lazarus had not given a translation of the proverbs and partly because his explanation of the proverbs seemed to me, from the insight I had got into the proverbs through years of study, not always to be the right one. But the book roused my interest afresh, and I took a Tamil munshi for about three years to go through all the proverbs I had found in other collections, and those I now found in Mr. Lazarus's book, and also those I had collected myself. This study with my munshi together with the kind help I got from other Tamil people led me to a fuller understanding of Oriental proverbial literature, and after a couple of years investigation, I got the idea of publishing a collection of these beautiful national sayings. But no sooner had I began to realize the idea, than I felt how much easier it was to get an idea than to carry it out. And hundreds of times, when going on with this work, have I felt the force of the Tamil proverb: "I stepped into the water without knowing its depth."

When the idea of publishing a collection of Tamil proverbs occurred to me, I saw at once that I had great difficulties to face. I had the difficulty of two languages, both of which were foreign to me. I had the fear—and still have it—that it might be too much for a foreigner to venture on the publication of Tamil proverbs, as proverbs undoubtedly form the most difficult branch of a nation's literature to comprehend. Besides this, it was clear to me that if I were to publish Tamil proverbs, I could not adopt the usual alphabetical order, but would have to arrange them into groups. Another difficulty—and without comparison the most important one—was to get the proper meaning of the proverbs, not as some pandits may please to explain them, but as common men and women understand them, when they use them in their every day life. Another difficulty, again, was to have these thousands of proverbs before me sifted. What was to be taken, and what to be left out? It always seemed to me that our collections of proverbs suffered from a great evil, viz., that they contained too many useless sayings, too many aphorisms and too many repetitions of the same proverbs.

With these difficulties before me I started, hoping that the proverb would prove true: "Little strokes at last fell great oaks," or as we say in Tamil: "Stroke upon stroke will make even a grindstone creep."

When going into the study of Tamil proverbs one finds that little has been done in the way of making a scientific investigation of them. All proverbs, sayings and aphorisms we meet with in our Tamil proverb collections we generally call Tamil proverbs, but these two terms—Tamil and Proverbs—raise two great questions: Are they all Tamil originally, and are they all proverbs? When comparing the Tamil proverbs with the Telugu ones, we find a good number almost word for word the same. And I remember when once walking with a friend in the streets of Poona, that he quoted two Marathi proverbs, both of which we have literally in Tamil. At Bombay I once happened to look into a Marathi proverb collection, and when I asked for a translation of the first proverb in the book I found it to be ours: “The dancing girl, who could not dance, said that the hall was not big enough.” But which is which in our Tamil proverb collections. They are all called Tamil.

Again, is it right to insert in our collections of proverbs hundreds and hundreds of aphorisms, classical sayings (நீதிமொழி) and common sayings, when these only communicate a truth in a general way, without making use of any sort of illustration? It seems to me that we should not allow “the confusion of proverbs with mere precepts or maxims destitute of proverbial significance and character” to go on. Each in its proper place. I have not left them out altogether, but tried to insert only such as are common, and at the same time contain rare words or idiomatic phrases.

To show what I mean by aphorisms and precepts, I shall quote a few here:—கண்டவன் எடானோ?—உயிருள்ளமட்டும் தைரியம் விலலாமா?—முதலிலே கெட்டிக்காரன் முடிவிலே சோம்பேறி.—வேலை அதிகம் சம்பளம் கொஞ்சம்.—இச்சித்த காரியம் இரகசியமல்லவே.—கள்ளனுக்கு ஊர் எல்லாம் பகை.—குடித்தனம் ஒன்றுபண்ணினால், நன்மை வரும் தீமை வரும்.—கேட்டவை எல்லாம் நம்பாதே, நம்பினதெல்லாம் சொல்லாதே.—தீமைபேசுகிறவன் தீமையாளிதான்.—புதிய காரியங்களில் புதிய யோசனை வேண்டும்.—தருமத்தைப் பாவம் வெல்லாது.—இருவராலே ஆகாத காரியம் ஒருவராலே ஆகுமா?—செலவு அதிகம் வரவு போதாது.

Here are a few more of the same kind, but a little more classical in their grammar:—குணமில்லாத வித்தை எல்லாம் அவித்தை.—தீரக்கற்றவன் தேசிகன் ஆவான்.—பழிக்கு ஆனோர் சிலர், பழிபடுவோர் சிலர்.—உருவத்திலேயல்ல இன்பப்பேச்சினால் கிளி நன்றும் திக்கப்படும்.—உதிரத்துக்கு அல்லவோ உருக்கம் இருக்கும்.—அறம் பொருள் இன்பம் எல்லாருக்குமில்லை.—தீயாரைச் சேர்ந்து ஒழுக்கம் தீது, தீயார் பண்பெய்வனவும் தீது.—சொல்லும் சொல் ஆக்கமும் கேடும் தரும்.—நல்ல நினைவை அனுசரித்தலே கெட்ட நினைவை நீக்கல்.—குலஸ்திரீ தன் பர்த்தாவையும், பரஸ்திரீ தன் மேனியையும் பேணுவார். இல்லறமல்லது, நல்லறமன்று.—மனையான் விடியுமுன் எழுந்து வீட்டுப்பணி செய்வான்.—But where would be the end of it, if these were to be passed off as proverbs? A fine collection, quite a Mahabharata, might be made out of them. The literature of India abounds in them. From the Mahabharata, Hito-padesa, ஓளவையார் and other books, we could easily get a beautiful collection of aphorisms and sayings counted by thousands.

Many of the proverbs met with in books have so often been handled by pandits, that we meet with the same proverb in a number of forms. The same is the case with a number of proverbs, which, just because they are in common use all over the country, have become slightly altered when wandering about the country from place to place and from caste to caste. As they are in spite of slight changes the same proverb, they ought either to be put down together or references ought to be made from one to the other, as Captain Carr has tried to do in his collection of Telugu proverbs. If this is not done, they cannot but give the inexperienced student of proverbs a great deal of trouble; and to me they have been a real worry, as I had to find them all out, in order that I might not in this collection repeat two proverbs that are the same. Here are a few examples of this kind :—

கண்ணில் குத்தின விரலைக் கண்டிப்பார் உண்டோ = கண்ணில் பட்ட கையைத் தறிப்பாரில்லை = கைதப்பிக் கண்ணில் பட்டால் கையைக் கண்டிப்பதுண்டா = கைவிரல் கண்ணில்பட்டால் கையை என்ன பண்ணலாம் = விரல் கண்ணில் குத்தினது என்று வெட்டிப்போடுவார்களா = விழியிலே குத்தின விரலை அறுப்பாருண்டா.—அம்பட்டன் குப்பையைக் கிளறினால் மயிர்மயிராய்ப் புறப்படும் = கிண்டக் கிண்ட அம்பட்டன் குப்பை மயிரே புறப்படும்.—அமாவாசைப் பருக்கை என்றைக்கும் அகப்படமா = நித்தியம் கிடைக்குமா அமாவாசைச்சேறு.—அப்பிடாவுமில்லை வெட்டுக்கத்தியுமில்லை = அவனுக்குக் கப்படாவுமில்லை வெட்டுக்கத்தியுமில்லை = கப்படாவுமில்லை வெட்டக் கத்தியுமில்லை.—உடம்பு முழுதும் நனைந்தவருக்குக் கூதல் என்ன = அற நனைந்தவருக்குக் கூதல் என்ன = முட்ட நனைந்தார்க்குக் குளிரில்லை = முழுதும் நனைந்தவருக்கு ஈரமில்லை = முற்றும் நனைந்தவருக்கு ஈரம் ஏது.—இருந்தும் கெடுத்தான் செத்தும் கெடுத்தான் = திருவாய்த்தான் இருந்தும் கெடுத்தான் செத்தும் கெடுத்தான் = சேவரத்துக் கிராமணி இருந்தும் கெடுத்தான் செத்தும் கெடுத்தான் = சேயுபுரத்துப் பள்ளி செத்தும் கெடுத்தான் இருந்தும் கெடுத்தான்.—கடலிலே ஏற்றம் போட்ட கதை = சமுத்திரத்தில் ஏற்றம் போட்டதுபோல் = சமுத்திரத்தில் ஏற்றம்போட்டுத் தண்ணீர் இறைத்தாற்போல்.—வேலையற்ற அம்பட்டன் மகளைப் பிடித்துச் சிறைத்தாளும் = வேலையில்லாத அம்பட்டன் ஆட்டைச் சிறைத்தாளும் = மினைக்கெட்ட அம்பட்டன் பூனையைச் சிறைத்தாளும்

=வேலை மினக்கெட்ட அம்பட்டன் பெண்சாதி தலையைச் சிறைத்தாளும்.—
கூழ் புளித்தது என்றும் மாங்காய் புளித்தது என்றும் உணராமல் சொல்ல
லாமா=வாய் புளித்ததோ மாங்காய் புளித்ததோ.—உடைந்த சங்கு ஊது பறி
யுமா=ஒட்டை சங்கு ஊது பறியாது.—அரைக்குடம் ததும்பும் நிறைகுடம்
ததும்பாது=குறைகுடம் தளம்பும் நிறைகுடம் தளம்பாது = குறைகுடம் கூத்
தாடும் = நிறைகுடம் தளும்பாது.—கட்டாந்தரையில் கொட்டக் குட்டிச்சுவரில்
நெறிகட்டினதாம் = குட்டிச்சுவரில் தேன்கொட்டிக் கட்டுத்தறியிலே நெறிகட்
டுமா = துண்ணைக்குத் தேன் கொட்டிற்று தண்ணீர்மிடாவுக்கு நெறிகட்டிற்று =
தென்னமரத்தில் தேன்கொட்டப் பின்மரத்தில் நெறிகட்டினதுபோல் = தென்
னைக்குத் தேன்கொட்டப் பனைக்கு நெறிகட்டினதுபோல்.—ஊர் மெச்ச நடவா
மல் உடல் மெச்ச நடக்கிறவனைப்போல் = உடலுக்கோ பால்வார்த்து உண்
பது, ஊருக்கோ பால்வார்த்து உண்பது = ஊருக்குப் பால்வார்த்து உண்கி
றூயா உடம்புக்குப் பால்வார்த்து உண்கிறூயா = உடல் மெச்சப் பால் குடிக்கி
றூயா, ஊர் மெச்சப் பால் குடிக்கிறூயா.—நிழல் நல்லது முசிறு பொல்லா
தது = மரம் நல்லதுதான் முசுடு கெட்டது.

The above are only a few examples of the many repetitions of the very same proverb.

There is another way of changing a proverb, viz., by putting the second half of a proverb at the beginning, so that we get two proverbs out of one. As an instance:—பட்ட காலிலே படும், கெட்ட குடியே கெடும், changed into:—கெட்ட குடியே கெடும் பட்டகாலிலே படும்; இருந்தகால் மூதேவி, நடந்தகால் சீதேவி, changed into:—நடந்த காலிலே சீதேவி, இருந்த காலிலே மூதேவி.

As my aim in making this collection has been practical rather than scientific, I have not tried to solve all these difficulties in any other way than by trying my best to avoid all repetitions. But with reference to this there is much for any one to do who would try to give us a scientific collection of Tamil proverbs. In such a work we should also expect to see what we call Tamil proverbs sifted, so that we might learn where they have originated, as in a good English collection of proverbs we can see where each had its origin—in Greece, in Italy, in Spain, in Germany or elsewhere.

This collection of proverbs is a selection from the thousands that are given in our Tamil proverb collections, and also from the many I have come across when reading Tamil books and conversing with Tamil people. Though I feel sure that there are a good number of real household proverbs I have not given that ought to be in such a collection as this, I am at the same time convinced that there cannot be very many. Once a man gave me 200 proverbs which he had collected at Madnra, but among them all I found only two new ones which were not more or less a repetition of what I had.

The Tamil proverb collections from which I have got help are :—A bazaar book containing about 2,000 proverbs without any English. உவமைச்சொல் அகராதி, a collection of about 5,000 Tamil proverbs published in 1872, which is with reference to real household proverbs, far superior to Percival's. The book is out of print but can be seen in our public libraries. Then there is Percival's collection of about 6,000 proverbs with an English translation. A very useful little "Handbook of Tamil Proverbs and Phrases" was published in 1888 by Mr. P. Satya Nesan, B.A., containing 500 proverbs only, but with translation, application and many similar English proverbs. The last collection that appeared was Mr. Lazarus's "Dictionary of Tamil Proverbs." This book is now the largest collection we have, and so far it makes its predecessors superfluous. Mr. Lazarus has not translated the proverbs, but to every one he has given a hint as to its meaning.

The other books from which I have chiefly drawn are the Tamil story books and Sastras. Of such I shall mention a few : கதாமஞ்சரி, கதாசிந்தாமணி, பஞ்சதந்திரம், கிளிக்கதை, முப்பத்திரண்டு பதுமைகதை. Pandit S. M. Natesa Sastri's "Folklore in Southern India," which has a number of proverbs and Tamil stories to illustrate them. A magazine published some years ago called : "The Saguna Bodhini Series." A book called இராமநாடகம் is, though written in poetry, full of proverbs. This is still more the case with "Vinoda Rasanjanari" by A. Viraswami Chettiar, late Pandit in the Madras Presidency College. This book is simply interwoven with Tamil Proverbs. "Mathar Neethy" is another story book containing many fine proverbs; and the same may be said of a book called : குடும்பசம்ரக்ஷணி. "The Viveka Chintamani," a monthly magazine, published by Mr. C. V. Swaminatha Iyer in Triplicane, has for the last year had a number of Tamil proverbs with Tamil explanation in every issue. The Sastras translated from Sanskrit into Tamil contain hardly any proverbs except the Mahabharata. This royal storehouse of something of everything that India has produced contains a good number of proverbs interspersed throughout the huge volume. So even with reference to proverbs the Bengali proverb almost holds good : "What is there after the Mahabharata?"

Dear as these beautiful little proverbs are to Tamil people, I have for years wondered that so little has been done to make them known to Europeans, specially to European ladies, who have, or, at least, could have, so much influence with Indian women. Percival gave a translation to his collection and left it there. But a mere translation of a real proverb will not in most cases bring us into contact with its homely meaning. Take as an instance Percival's:—இளையாள் இலை தின்னி, மூத்தாள் காய் அழிவாள், translated: "the younger sister feeds on leaves, the elder is accustomed to fruit;" in this case the translation is wrong, but even if it were translated properly, it would have no meaning to a European. As Percival says, "In many instances the application has equally puzzled both myself and others to whom I have applied for information." To be sure, there's the rub in trying to explain proverbs. And consequently Percival left out the application, although he says that foreigners destined to spend the best part of their life among the Tamil people will find their proverbs of inestimable value. But in many cases a Tamil proverb without its application is to a foreigner almost like an unbroken cocoanut to a dog, as the Tamil saying is. Mr. P. Satya Nesan in his collection began in the right way, but did not go far enough; Mr. J. Lazarus, on the other hand, had his thoughts chiefly directed on collecting all the Tamil proverbs into one book. Hence Tamil proverbs as such have hitherto been handed over to us like a chaos.

My desire, as I have already indicated, has been first to make the application of each proverb clear, and next to divide them into families. As far as I have succeeded in grasping the meaning, so far almost have I succeeded, I suppose, in getting them into their proper families. But it is hard to get such a register of sin, as proverbs almost are, into a systematic order. The phenomena of sinful life are so manifold, and the reflections on it so numerous that the difficulties sometimes seemed to me insurmountable. Be it remembered, that as long as I was working at the arranging of them I had not at hand the English index nor the two glossaries and the many references from one proverb to another, and from one family to another, that are now before the reader. But in spite of all the difficulties and drawbacks, it seems to me that it is only when we have arranged the proverbs in groups or families that we are able to see what the proverbs teach us. I do not look upon the arrangement introduced by me as at all final. Far from it. What I have done I wish to be considered a beginning only, or a little attempt at cultivating the ground. Many of the proverbs are imperfectly explained, partly because their meaning has not been fully grasped, and partly because many of them to be well understood ought to have a little story attached to them. They might be divided into more families, and all the minor families might again be grouped into main families, as I have tried to do at the beginning of the book, and also at the end of it.

As the result of bringing the proverbs into groups, though I have in many cases not achieved what I have aimed at, one can easily get an insight into the social, ethical or domestic thoughts contained in them. Take as an instance the family on fate and fortune. There may within this family be a few that would have fitted in better somewhere else, and in some other family may be a few that might have been inserted under fate and fortune; but one can at once by the help of the arrangement of the book get an insight into what the Tamil proverbs teach on such a subject. I have also observed that the dividing of the proverbs into families is a great advantage in the study of the Tamil language itself. Though each proverb in a family may be said to harp on one and the same string, the thought is expressed in a variety of terms, some of which are synonymous. Look for instance at the family on ostentation or ஹம்ஸம்—one of the chief Indian sins, according to the proverbs at least—in what a variety of language is vanity rebuked! Another advantage of the family arrangement is that as a number of similar proverbs are brought together, they need less explanation; for apart from a few that are misplaced, the heading of each chapter—though in many cases it has been difficult to find an adequate heading—gives the key to the meaning of all that are included under it. It is a matter of consequence that though the proverbs in each family allude to the same thing, they are in most cases not synonymous. In the chapter on a mother, it is at once evident that most of the proverbs have little or nothing connecting them but this, that they refer to a mother. In the same chapter we get also a good insight into the way in which India regards a mother in all her capacities. In an hour's time one can by studying the chapter on a mother get some real knowledge of her position in India,—a knowledge which one could hardly get from any other sources. The references from one number to another all through the book are not to be taken as references to synonymous proverbs. This holds good in a few cases, but more often the references mean only that the reader would do well to compare the particular proverb with another, because they are closely related in thought or in language. As related individual proverbs are referred to each other, so are whole families referred to each other by the numbers given below the different chapters.

In selecting English equivalents for the Tamil proverbs I have used the following books:—W. Carew Hazlitt's "English Proverbs and Proverbial Phrases." "A Handbook of Proverbs," which is a republication of Ray's collection of English Proverbs. Captain Carr's "Telugu Proverbs" A collection of Marathi Proverbs. And "Eastern Proverbs and Emblems" by the Rev. J. Long.

A few words on the characteristics of Indian proverbs compared with the English, as they have struck me while working on them, may not be out of place, though I have not made a study of this subject.

When going through an English collection of proverbs, one is struck by the number of proverbs referring to the weather and the seasons. India has very few proverbs of this kind. In India we have the South-West monsoon from May to October, and the North-East monsoon from November to April, and there is the end of it. The characteristic of the weather in England is change, while in India it is regularity. It would be thoroughly out of place in India to say:—"A woman's mind and winter wind change oft." For the big chapter in this book on "Sorrow and lamentation of women" I could hardly find any equivalent from the English. The English woman has been respected, while her Indian sister has met with very little respect, hence her lamentation, and her revolting in bitter terms against her oppressors. Again, in India we have no girls or young ladies. We meet in India with female children and wives, as the Indian woman passes at once from being a child to being a wife. But in Europe young women have a fine time for their development, both physical and intellectual, before they get married. In this transition period, then, there is a rich sphere for English proverbs, but as there is no such period in India, there are no such Indian proverbs. Even a widow is not overlooked by the English proverbs, as she sometimes aspires, if possible, to marry again, but the Indian widow has no such aspiration, for she is a mere widow, a முண்டைச்சி, a contemptible thing! Woman's dress plays a part in English proverbs, but it is jewelry which is here the all-important thing; hence the tailor's shop plays the same part in Europe as the goldsmith's in India. In India a woman has had no trouble in dressing up in order to make an attractive appearance in Society, as her parents arranged her marriage for her while she was still a child. Even if she is a monkey—exceedingly ugly—she will be married.

The Tamil proverbs referring to vanity and ostentation outnumber the English and are at the same time very pointed. There is almost no end to the Tamil proverbs on the wicked tendency in the human race to see their enemies destroyed. Though India is saturated with superstition, it seems to me, strange to say, that we meet with more English than Tamil proverbs on superstition. The Tamil proverbs almost altogether leave out criticism of superstition, ceremonies, gods and temples, in short, all that refers to religious life. Even on caste there are comparatively few. Polly and laziness are regarded so differently by the Indians and the English that it is impossible to find English equivalents for the Tamil.

The meaning of an English and a Tamil proverb may be the same, but the habits, customs and climate have formed them so differently. As an instance, we say in Tamil: "Ears (ornamented) with palmyra-leaves are better than ears with no ornaments;" for this we might put the English:—"Better a bare foot, than no foot at all;" to go bare-footed in the Northern countries of Europe, especially in winter-time, would be very hard, but in India it is difficult to understand this English proverb, as all Indians still enjoy the great privilege of going bare-footed.

One great peculiarity about the Tamil or Dravidian proverbs is that the animals we meet with are but dumb figures brought in merely for the purpose of illustration. In the Panchatandra, on the other hand, all animals are imbued with sense and characteristics: they think, talk, move and behave in every way like man. Nay, some animals in those ancient days seem even to have been reading the Vedas. The Aryans have given life to all their animals. The Dravidians, on the contrary, seem not to have seen much in animals; in their proverbs, at least, they have not attributed anything like intellect to them, except perhaps a little to the cat. The shrewd and sensible elephant represents in Tamil proverbs outward greatness only. The gentle cow gives milk. The buffalo is for ploughing. Sheep are as stupid as their shepherd. The dog's faithfulness is unknown. Dogs, pigs and crows are dirty and greedy animals. The ass is ever obstinate, but has willingly or unwillingly to submit to hard work and hard treatment; its fate is a hard and pitiful one, indeed; in the hands of the washerman it fares as badly as the monkey in the hands of the mendicant. The doctor and medicine for the poor ass is to go and roll itself in the dust of the street. Whatever is done to an ass, it cannot become a horse; in this sense the horse is used for something great and grand. But as the animals are brought in only in order to illustrate, and not for their own sake at all, they are of little interest in this connection.

I have always been much struck with the complaining, the sighing, the groaning under the tyranny of men and of fate that underlies so many of the Indian proverbs. This is also the case with the Indian ~~songs~~, hence also almost all tunes in India are full of melancholy. The elephant tone does not perhapse anything Indian. In all departments of Indian literature it is as if the goddess of the earth, Bhûmidêvi, stood personified, groaning under the burden heaped upon her. This feeling has found very strong expression in the Bhagavatgita:—

Arjuna.

Slayer of Madhu ! Yet again, this Yôg,
This Peace, derived from equanimity,
Made known by thee—I see no fixity
Therein, no rest, because the heart of men
Is unfixed, Krishna ! rash, tumultuous,
Willful and strong. It were all one, I think,
To hold the wayward wind, as tame man's heart.

Krishna.

Hero long armed ! beyond denial, hard
Man's heart is to restrain and wavering ;
Yet may it grow restrained by habit, Prince !
By want of self-command. This Yôg, I say,
Cometh not lightly to th' ungoverned : (who need it !)
But he who will be master of himself
Shall win it, if he stoutly strive thereto.

The Song Celestial.—E. ARNOLD.

But why so much ado about nothing? Why take so much trouble about these proverbs? What is the good of it? Who cares for these obsolete childish things? Perhaps some old grandmother, when telling stories to women and children inside the houses who are half asleep on their mats, may make some use of them. But we men of the nineteenth century, what on earth have we to do with obsolete proverbial literature, some may ask. My answer is that it is well known that the more a nation develops the more its proverbs die out; but though Europe has now for many hundreds of years been developing, there are many proverbs still in circulation among the different nations of Europe, and some of these proverbs will not die out as long as there is a tongue on earth to speak them. Whether we look to the West or to the East we find that figurative speech always has great influence over the masses. I suppose this was the reason why Jesus, who "knew what was in man," "spake unto the multitude in parables; and without a parable spake he not unto them." It is interesting to observe that the latest Tamil drama: "Lilavat Sulocana" written by an educated man, P. Sambandam, B.A., contains about a score of Tamil proverbs. If proverbs are still largely in use by the masses, if they still form a part of their daily language, used in practical life for practical purposes, it is clearly our duty to know them, if we want to exert any influence on the people.

When we read biographies of great men, we often see these great men attribute much of their greatness to their mother's influence on them in their early life. A mother, or a home, does lay the first foundation in every child's heart for its future, and in most cases the foundation laid by the mother or by the women of the home, has a most important effect on the moral life afterwards. In this case India is no exception to the rule. But from where does the Indian mother get thoughts by which to educate her children at home? When a child is naughty, or when a daughter has quarrelled with her mother-in-law and comes home, does an Indian mother in such cases in order to rebuke or comfort quote from the Bhagavatgita, or from the Upanishads? Does she from these books try to inculcate in the child's heart what the different indriyas mean? that some of them are to be subdued, others again to be developed?

The Indian mother has her own practical way at home.

Legends, stories and proverbs are her storehouse; from these she obtains material for rebuking, for sneering, for warning, for encouraging, for comforting and for praising. The proverbs and maxims are India's practical ethics. The Indian proverbs are not antiquarian curiosities, but living and stern realities, and hence perhaps more celestial than the so-called "Celestial Songs" of the Bhagavatgita.

By a good knowledge of Indian proverbs one is enabled, as it were, to feel the moral pulse of the Indian people, and a sound insight into the proverbial literature of India is like getting a microscope by which one can look deeply into the recesses of the native heart. Nothing else can throw so much light on the daily practice of the Indians as do the proverbs. And if one could publish the obscene ones also, which often contain most striking truths, we should see still deeper into the misery of the country. But the obscene ones with which I have met in our collections, and in intercourse with the people, I have left out. I have, however, reason to believe that there are many obscene ones besides the few that I have seen and heard; and that they are freely used by the great majority of the common people even in their children's presence. The children are often, I am told, made to laugh over them.

Proverbs are merciless in their criticism of sinful life, and they always aim at putting things right. As already said, the Indian mothers nurse their sons and daughters with them. By proverbs satire is pronounced over folly and over wickedness. By a proverb a crowd or a household is made to smile pleasantly, that otherwise might have got into a hot fight. In proverbs lies buried an endless store of criticism, encouragement, humour, sorrow and complaint, referring to all classes of mankind from the unborn child to the grey-haired veteran. And as the Hindu—and we might for that matter say the whole world—likes to hurt without hurting (சுடாமல் சுடுதல்), that he may not burn his own fingers, he has in the proverbial literature material by the help of which he can indirectly express his sorrow and joy, his approval or disapproval. By proverbs the shrewd and avaricious Brahmin is criticised; the calculating and careful Chetty is held up to ridicule or indirectly praised; the shepherd's stupidity and the kuravan's rudeness is brought out; the ungrateful and deceitful friend is mercilessly rebuked ; the life of immoral women is censured in strong terms ; vanity is ridiculed ; the dulness and indifference of the Pariah is sarcastically blamed. No wonder that many of the proverbs are universal in their application, for human life is much the same all the world over. Anger, pride, arrogance, selfishness, avarice, passion, dissimulation, falsehood and many more sins that keep society at a low level, are all of them universal, and it is with such that the proverbs deal.

The Rev. J. Long in his "Eastern Proverbs and Emblems" says with reference to the Chinese proverbs—he has it from "Scarborough's Chinese Proverbs":—"Used as quotations, the value of proverbs in China is immense. So used in conversation, they add a piquancy and a flavour which greatly delight the Chinese and make mutual intercourse more easy and agreeable. But it is to the missionary that the value of an extensive acquaintance with Chinese proverbs is of the highest importance. Personal experience, as well as the repeated testimony of others, make us bold to assert, that even a limited knowledge of Chinese proverbs is to him daily of inestimable value. A proverb will often serve to rouse the flagging attention of a congregation, or to arrest it at the commencement of a discourse. A proverb will often serve to produce a smile of good nature in an apparently ill-tempered audience and so to call forth a kindly feeling which did not seem before to exist. And very often a proverb aptly quoted will serve to convey a truth in the most terse and striking manner, so obviating the necessity for detached and lengthy arguments whilst they fix at a stroke the idea you are wishing to convey." The same author remarks: "Like the proverbs of Solomon (சீஇலோமுழி), the Psalms, Bunyan's 'Pilgrim's Progress,' and the 'Arabian Nights,' they speak in a language 'understood of the people'."

And from Archbishop Trench he quotes: "Anyone who by after-investigation has sought to discover how much our rustic hearers carry away, even from sermons to which they have attentively listened, will find that it is hardly ever the course or tenor of the argument, supposing the discourse to have contained such ; but if anything has been uttered as it used so often to be by the best Puritan preachers, tersely, pointedly, epigrammatically, this will have stayed by them, while all the rest has passed away.

Great preachers, so the people, such as have found their way to the universal heart of our dear fellows, have ever been great employers of proverbs."

Pandits when inserting proverbs in the books they have made, or in books translated by them, have often tried to refine the language in which they are expressed. They are always trying to employ big words and highflown terms, not knowing as yet that simplicity is the highest beauty. I think it is our duty, when we meet with pandit-refined proverbs to bring them back to their original form. I could give many examples of this kind, but I shall confine myself to one : பன்றியோடு இணங்கின or கூடிய கன்றும் மலம் தின்னும். The common form of this proverb is : பன்றி பின் போகிற கன்றும் பீ தின்னும். பீ is not an indecent word in a Hindu home as yet. Would that no worse words were used in Hindu houses ! Real life has dictated the proverbs, and as they are used in real life, so they should be quoted. Their meaning, their words and their grammar are alike practical and simple, why then dress them up in a pandit's dress ? When they die, let them die ; but as long as they are realities, and play an important part in the life of the nation, we should let them go in their natural simplicity, and honour them in their natural dress.

The Two Tamil Indexes.

I might perhaps be blamed for arranging the proverbs into families, because this arrangement makes it almost impossible for us to find any individual proverb, when we wish to see it. It is, however, almost equally difficult to do this with the alphabetic arrangement, if one does not happen to remember the first word, which is often no easy thing, as it may be a most insignificant word, an இந்த or அந்த or எந்த or ஒரு or any other little word which has no relation to the meaning of the proverb. I have, however, furnished the book with an index, or alphabetical glossary, containing the first word of each proverb, so that if the first word is remembered it is easy to find any proverb.

I have noticed by experience that there are words within the proverbs that by and by stick to the mind ; while we forget the first word of a proverb, we remember words within it. I have therefore also provided this book with an index of words from within each proverb arranged alphabetically.

This latter glossary is given not only to the reader to find the proverbs, but also in order to supply <sup>stror</sup> vocabulary of the most important words found in them. The student who takes an interest in Tamil can easily, whenever he meets with a word in other books, or in conversation, and wishes to see how the word is used in proverbs, turn to the two indexes, find the word, and see the use of it and also its translation. As to translation, however, he may not always find direct help, as the translation of a proverb cannot but be somewhat free, if we are to get the meaning out of it by a translation.

To those who might prefer the proverbs arranged according to the letter, and not according to the spirit, the two glossaries will be of great help, as they can at once find out for themselves where the words horse, elephant, monkey, snake, poison, medicine, doctor, Brahmin, Pariah, Chetty, rain, wind, sickle, thali, husband, wife, woman, destiny and such like words appear.

I have in conclusion to express my thanks to all who have helped me in this work. My munshi, Mr. Vasudeva Pillai, has been my chief help in making the proverbs clear to me and in giving me their homely applications. He has also supplied me with a few hundreds of new proverbs, not found before in any collection I have come across. But after I had gone through the thousands of proverbs and phrases with my munshi, and as far as possible ascertained their meaning and their application, had selected those out of them that I wanted, had translated them into English, added their application, furnished some of them—about 1,500—with corresponding English proverbs, brought them into families, and made a copy of it all, there was one thing still to be done, and that was to make a thorough revision of the English part of the book. For this last, but very important part of the undertaking the Rev. A. C. Clayton of the Wesleyan Mission came to my assistance, and for the generous help he has given me I shall ever feel most grateful. For about a year and a half Mr. Clayton has almost daily worked at the revision of my English manuscripts, going over most of them twice at least. The proverbs being in a simple language, their translation ought also to be simple and plain. But it is very difficult to translate an Eastern proverb into English so that its meaning may be clearly understood and it is still more difficult to do it so that the language of the translation may be in harmony with the original in directness and simplicity. So whatever the reader finds of idiomatic beauty in the English translation and application is almost all owing to the deep interest Mr. Clayton has taken in this work and the perseverance with which he has sought to improve it.

To my great sorrow Mr. Clayton was transferred up-country at the beginning of this year. When he left there were still about 1,000 proverbs to be carried through the press, and up-country Mr. Clayton found it impossible to correct the proofs as quickly as I desired. Mr. A. Moffat, M.A., B.Sc. of the Christian College has been kind enough to help me in correcting what was still left to be carried through the press. The Rev. N. Devasahayam, B.A., of the Leipzig Mission has also kindly gone over all the proof-sheets.

GOD.

கடவுள்.

These Sentences about God are not Proverbs, but Aphorisms.

கடவுள் துணை.

God (is our) help, or The Lord is our help.

This little sentence is put above the Title of almost every Hindu book.

கடவுள் துணை or தெய்வமே துணை are the most common. But we meet also with:

கணபதி துணை ; ஸ்ரீராம ஜெயம் and other expressions.

1. அன்புக்கு ஒருவனே.

God is love. (Upanishad.)

2. அறியாத வஸ்து or மனோவாக்குக்கு எட்டாதவன்.

The unknown God, or The One that cannot be reached by mind or by words.

3. அரிது அரிது அஞ்சு எழுத்து உணர்தல்.

Exceedingly difficult it is to know the five letters.

The 'five letters' refer to famous incantation, or the highest spiritual wisdom, or God's Name.

"The best way to see divine light, is to put out thine own candle."

"Some say that eight plain hold all truth,
And some that it doth dwell in five!
No wonder that such living fools
Exalt Vishnu, and Siva praise."

CH. E. GOVER: The Folk-Songs of Southern India.

4. அவன் அசையாது, அணுவும் அசையாது.
Unless God move, not an atom will move.
God is the hidden power behind everything.
5. ஈசனுக்கு ஒப்பு இங்கு ஒன்றுமில்லை.

God did not feel joy in being alone (and hence he created).
(Upanishad.)
9. சப்த பிரம்மத்தினால் அசப்த பிரம்மம் பிரகாசிப்பிக்கிறது.
The invisible God is made to shine by the revealed God.
(Upanishad.)
10. சப்த பிரம்மம் பரபிரம்மம் இரண்டையும் அறியவேண்டியது.
We should know both the revealed and the unrevealed God.
(Upanishad.)
11. தன்னிலேயே தான் இருப்பான்.

12. தீதிறும் பாவச் செய்கை அற்றவன் தேவன்.
He who is without sin is God.
13. தெய்வ வணக்கமே நரக வாசலை அடைக்கும் தாழ்.
The worship of God is the bolt that shuts the gates of hell.

God is one, there is no second to him.
15. பரபிரம்மத்தைத் தியானம் செய்வதினால், பிரகாசிக்காமலிருந்த விஞ்ஞானமானது பிரகாசமாகிறது.
By meditation on God the spiritual wisdom in man, which is unilluminated will become radiant. (Upanishad.)
16. புகை நுழையாத இடத்திலேயும் அவன் நுழைவான்.
Even where smoke cannot enter He can enter.
Said also about a crafty person.

GOD AND MAN.

17. ஆகாசத்திலிருந்து அறுந்துவிட்டேன், பூமிதேவி ஏற்றுக்கொண்டாள்.

So says one who stands alone and helpless in this world.
18. அகதிக்கு ஆகாசமே துணை.

him in till her favourite had been released from prison. On hearing this the king sent his own poet to sing outside the queen's door. So that the queen might think that her request had been complied with. But 1535. அன்ன நடை நடக்கப்போய், தன் நடையும் கெட்டதுபோல.

Like the man who tried to walk like a swan, and thereby lost his own way of walking. 3325.

This proverb has a wide range of application all over the world. It is especially applicable to India where the transition from an old civilization to a new is so marked. Tamils describe a person who follows the new fashions as இரண்டாம் கெட்டான், 'He is spoiled a second time,' or திரிசங்கு ராஜா போல 'He is like king Trisanku.' Trisanku did much good to the Rishi Viswamitra, in return for which Viswamitra tried to elevate Trisanku in his mortal body to heaven. But the Gods were unwilling to receive him and a compromise had to be made between the Gods and Viswamitra, by which Trisanku was left suspended between heaven and earth. (Vishnu Purana, Book 4, Chap.8.)

1539. தாயில்லாதவனுக்கு ஊர் எல்லாம் தாய்.
The whole village will be a mother to a motherless child. 1483.

The story goes that a certain man who was headman or judge in his village quoted this proverb in order to console his younger brother after the death of their mother. The younger brother, who was a great fool, succeeded his brother in the office of headman or judge in due time, and as it was his principle to imitate the doings and sayings of his brother matters went on well for a time. But one day a man whose wife had died came to him for consolation and he, mindful of the way in which his elder brother had comforted him when their mother died, quoted the above saying adapting it to circumstances thus:—

- 1539a. உன் பெண்சாதி ஊருக்கும் எல்லாம் பெண்சாதி, எனக்கும் பெண் சாதி அல்லவா?

Was not your wife the wife of the whole village, and was not she my wife?

It need hardly be said that this was no consolation to the bereaved husband. The whole story is a satire of senseless imitation.

"He that for the new way leaveth the old way, is often times found to go astray."

1543. புலியைப் பார்த்துப் பூனை சூடு போட்டுக்கொண்டதுபோல.

Like the cat who saw a tiger and branded itself (so as to be striped like the tiger)!

Persons in inferior stations in life should not try to imitate the great lest they hurt themselves.

"Borrowed garments never fit well."

1544. மயிலைக் கண்டு வான்கோழி ஆடினதுபோல.

Like the turkey who saw a peacock and danced!

The story goes that when the tax-collector came to assess the village crops, the village headman uttered the first part of this proverb as a description of the good harvest. But a farmer held up his hand in such a way as to show the village headman his golden ring, signifying that a heavy bribe would be paid to him if the taxes were remitted, so the headman added the second part of the proverb—for it was more important to please the farmers of the village than to give an exact return to the collector.

death. This ceremony should be performed on the tenth day after the death of a Brāhmin, on the twelfth day after the death of a Kshatriya or Vaisya, on the sixteenth day after the death of a Sudra. The saying is therefore a wish that a man's affairs may all be in confusion at his death, or that dishonour may put an end to all his self-complacency.

The 'gourd' is a vessel in which alms are received by a mendicant.

1584. என் மூக்கை முன்னுக்குக் கொண்டுவா.

Bring my nose forward! 879.

A curious phrase. The allusion is to the mutilation of a faithless wife by her husband. Sometimes the adulteress' mother was mutilated also. Hence when a girl was leaving home for her husband's house after marriage, her mother would use this saying meaning 'Be careful to bring credit to me; don't do anything that will make your husband cut my nose off.' "The peril past the saint mocked."

2196. பாம்புக்குப் பால் வார்த்து வளர்த்தாலும், விஷத்தைக் கொடுக்கும்.

Though you give milk to a snake and bring it up, it will give you a deadly bite. 2193.

It is a common practice to put milk near the holes inhabited by cobras. Indeed the cobra is looked upon as a sacred being and is always spoken of euphemistically as 'the good snake'—nalla pāmbu—in Tamil, in spite of its venomousness.

"Put a snake into your bosom, and when it is warm it will sting you."

"He hath brought up a bird to pick out his own eyes."

N.B.—Mahabharata (சாந்திபர்வம்) criticizes the ungratefulness of mean people in the following terms:—"சின்ன மனிதரைச் சேர்க்கலாகாது. அவர்களால் பெரிய காரியம் ஆகமாட்டாது. தீமை முனையும்ல்லது நன்மை விளையாது. அவர்களுக்கு என்ன உபகாரஞ் செய்தபோதிலும், எவ்வளவு சகாயம் பண்ணினபோதிலும், இவர்களாலே செல்வப்பட்டுமோ என்று ஒருக்காலஞ் சொல்லமாட்டார்கள். பல நாள் உதவிசெய்து ஒருநாள் உதவாவிட்டால், பலநாளஞ் செய்த உதவி பாழாய்ப்போய், பாக்குமரம் நித்தியந் தண்ணீர் விடாமற் போனால் எப்படி வாடுமோ, அப்படிப்போல் முகம் வாடி, வம்பு வார்த்தைகளாடி அபகாரப்பண்ணுவார்கள். நமக்குப் பகையாயிருப்பவர்களுடன் உறவாடி நமது உண்மைகளை வெளியிட்டுவிடுவார்கள்." The passage may be translated as follows:—"You must not associate with inferiors. They can accomplish no great deeds. Evil flourishes in their actions, good will not thrive. * Whatever benefit we render to them, however much help we give them, they will never admit that they have been made the better for it. If we aid them for many days but omit to help on any future day, all the help that we have given will be in vain, and just as the areca-palm will wither if its daily supply of water fails, so with angry face and with much abuse, they will injure us. Making friends with our enemies, they will reveal our secrets to them." From this it will be seen that ingratitude is in Hindu eyes a very grave sin, and though it must be confessed that gratitude is somewhat lacking to-day in India, and that the sneer that some people make about the absence of a word for 'thanks' or 'gratitude' in Tamil is not altogether unjustified, the sweeping assertion that the Hindus are ungrateful is however as false as it is sweeping!

The other women were called in, and the mother-in-law pointed to the wicked daughter-in-law, to the rice-pounder and to her own breast. A young wife leaves her mother-in-law's house and goes home to her parents for her confinement, but she must not stay there more than six months. When the time is up her husband asks for her return. Also used about money that should be returned within the fixed time.
The above refer directly to the relations between a mother-in-law and her daughter-in-law. There are a number of other proverbs more or less directly bearing on the same subject, which have been included under other headings. Some of them can be found by referring to the words மாயியார் and மருமகள் in the Index. But there are numerous proverbs which have reference to the mother-in-law by implication only. That there is such a large number of proverbs which thus refer to the mother-in-law is a proof of her immense importance in Hindu family life.
